

BANQUET ATTENDED BY 140 PERSONS; TIFFANY IS ELECTED

Officers Are Chosen And Speeches Are Given At Dinner.

With a closer spirit of fellowship than ever before, representatives of 25 graduating classes of Antioch High school met Thursday night for the annual banquet of the Alumni association. The banquet, which was held in the school cafeteria, was attended by 140 persons.

Officers for this year elected were Homer Tiffany, president, taking the place of Albert Herman; Edna Warner, vice-president, and Hilma Rosling, secretary and treasurer.

Speakers at the banquet were W. S. Adams, Judge Walter Taylor, and Victor Down. Impromptu talks were given by Stanley Jack, Ernest Cox, and John Hodge.

Mr. Adams had for his address, "Visions." The clearest vision Mr. Adams now holds is of the time when there will be a change in the public school system—when two years of college work will be added to the curriculum. Within two years Mr. Adams believes there will be laws put into effect in this regard.

Judge Taylor was the oldest alumna present, having been a member of the class of 1899.

Mr. Down, because of his unusual wit and cleverness, gave an interesting account of his wanderings over the south and southwest.

FULL MILITARY HONORS AT SHANNON FUNERAL TUESDAY

Firing Squad Gives Last Salute To U. S. Marine.

Full military honors for a fallen comrade were witnessed here Tuesday afternoon when the body of David Elmer Shannon, an ex-marine, was laid to rest in Hillside cemetery, Antioch.

The ex-soldier died at the veterans' hospital Five Points, North Chicago, December 27, following an illness extending over a period of several years. His sickness believed to have been caused from infections of serum while in the army. He had been in semi-paralyzed condition for many years.

He was born November 3, 1897, and his entire life was lived at the home of his parents at Channel Lake. During the war he was a member of the U. S. Marines at Paris Island.

FEW PUPILS ARE ILL AS SCHOOL CONVENES FOLLOWING VACATION

Classes For Older Students Will Be In Session Monday Morning.

Vacation days have come to an end for children of the Antioch Grade school, as classes convened Wednesday after a recess since December 21. Classes at the high school will not be in session until Monday morning, however.

While influenza is raging in some communities, W. C. Petty, principal of the grade school, says that virtually 100 per cent of the pupils enrolled returned Wednesday.

PROPERTY OWNERS ARE DEADLOCKED ON WHITE WAY PROJECT

Board Sought Opinion; Got It At Dinner Thursday Night.

"Hopelessly deadlocked" — these words just about describe the situation in Antioch regarding the proposed white way, and the difference of opinion also extends to the matter of putting through additional streets and alleys near the business district of the village.

These facts were brought out Thursday night at a dinner at the Antioch Hotel where about forty property owners and interested persons were assembled at the invitation of Herbert J. Vos, Antioch lumberman and member of the finance committee of the village board. While the exact nature of the meeting was not disclosed in the invitations sent out by Mr. Vos, it was generally surmised that the "white way" or some right-of-way project was to be brought before the meeting.

When the meeting was called to order, Mr. Vos quickly confirmed the rumors about the white way being the purpose of calling the group together, stating that the time has come to settle the question or to forget it.

"The village board seeks the sentiment of Main street property owners," Mr. Vos said, "and now is the time for each one to voice his opinion regarding the improvement." The meeting was then turned over to President Pollock, who acted as chairman during the session.

Companies Pledge Co-operation.
Theo. Blech, district superintendent of the Public Service, gave assurance that the company's poles would be removed from Main street at any time the village would furnish a right-of-way for their lines on the east and west side of Main street, stating that he would get this promise confirmed in writing by the company's officials. If such a document was required.

T. A. Lotrus, acting superintendent for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, pledged co-operation of his company in working with the village and the Public Service company in removing poles and lines from Main street.

A standing vote on the question "shall an ornamental lighting system be installed?" showed a divided house, objectors stating that there was no use in having a white way as long as Main street was cluttered up with unsightly poles and wires. Then the question was revised to include the provision of having the poles removed and another vote was taken. Five property owners voted "no." So it seems that there are property owners who will oppose the improvement under any conditions.

Streets, Alleys Also In Dispute.
It was explained that the cost of installation would be approximately $250 per front foot, and that the cost of operation would be about $150 per month over the present cost of lighting Antioch's streets.

A petition for the improvement was signed by several property owners after the meeting.

The matter of new streets and alleys was also discussed, but it was found impossible to propose a plan that would meet with the unanimous approval of property owners.

Property owners must appreciate the efforts of the village council in trying to work out improvement problems to the satisfaction of all concerned. It is a very commendable attitude. Lack of funds has been a handicap during the year, otherwise many of the difficulties in the way of improvements would have been removed, and it would have been a simple matter for the board to decide what was best to be done.

SPORTSMEN PLANNING TO OPEN PLAYGROUND NEAR THIS VILLAGE

Mansions Will Be Erected And Gardens Are To Be Laid Out.

Millionaire sportsmen of Chicago have made another move in the direction of Antioch.

This is revealed by the announcement that near Millburn, six miles east of Antioch along Mill creek, a huge playground for the elite is to be opened. Large tracts of land are being purchased by various invited sportsmen—these few sportsmen who are considered to have "it"—what ever "it" may be. No small parcels of land are sold.

Soon mansions are to be erected, wonderful gardens will be laid out, and the woodlands will ring with the cries of hunters. The present woodland tracts will be converted to an earthly paradise—a paradise which can be viewed by only a few—the exclusive!

Anatol Niblack, well-known sportsman, claims to be the originator of the idea.

$4,000 LOSS RESULTS AS GARAGE AND CARS BURN AT RADTKE HOME

New Chrysler Destroyed By Flames; Firemen Save Other Buildings.

Loss estimated at $4,000 was sustained by H. A. Radtke and Maurice Radtke shortly before noon Saturday when the garage of the former was totally destroyed by fire, one Chrysler car belonging to Maurice Radtke burned, and another Chrysler belonging to his father damaged to the extent of about $400.

Undoubtedly the flames originated from an overheated coal stove used to heat the garage. Smoke was seen issuing from the garage and when the doors were opened the interior was found to be a roaring furnace of flame. H. A. Radtke's car was pulled from the garage, but not before all glass had been broken by the heat and the paint ruined. It was impossible to get the other car out.

Prompt work by the local fire department prevented the spread of the fire to nearby residences and other buildings. It is understood the loss only partly covered by insurance.

LOON LAKE MERCHANT IS PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Andrew Wolf Was In Business At Resort Settlement For Quarter Century.

Andrew Wolf, well known Loon Lake merchant, died at the Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, Friday afternoon, December 28, following a few days illness of pneumonia.

Born in Germany, June 5, 1869, he immigrated to this country early in life, and on May 16, 1887, he was married to Barbara Hoffman. For the last 25 years he had conducted a general store at Loon Lake. He is survived by the wife and seven children, two daughters, Ann and Mamie Wolf, and five sons, John, George, Fred, Peter and Frank.

Funeral services were held Monday at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. E. Pollock and interment was in Oakland cemetery.

'Old-Fashioned' Winter Weather Is The Bunk, According to Local Man

Weather Prophets Recall Only The "High Spots," Says S. E. Pollock.

"This changing world" as an expression relating to progress is true enough, but when applied to weather conditions, not so good, thinks S. E. Pollock, Antioch mayor and florist, who keeps close records of temperatures, rains, snows and sunshine.

"Many people remark that we do not have any more 'old-fashioned' winters, that the climate is changing and make inquiry as to why the winters are different now," Mr. Pollock said. "As a matter of fact the climate is not changing, and the winters now are just as old-fashioned as they were 20 years ago, as records of the weather bureau will show. The trouble is," continued the Mayor, "people remember only the high spots of years ago—the heavy snows, unusual rainfall, and the extreme cold, forgetting about the milder winters of former years."

During the month of December, people of this locality enjoyed 12 clear days, while in December last year there were 15 days of sunshine. Mr. Pollock's record shows, and also that we had 19 cloudy days in December this year as against 16 such days in December, 1927. The average temperature at 7 a. m., December this year was 25 F., last year 16 F. The two years are tied for the coldest day during December, as it was 4 below zero on December 21 this year and the same temperature on December 5, last year. And just to satisfy the superstitious, the weather man had it rain all day on December 13, each year.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS LAID TO REST

Walter Stickels Was Born In 1845; Saw Service In War of Rebellion.

Funeral services for Walter Stickels, former Antioch resident and octogenarian, who died Thursday at the home of his son, Elmer, in Grayslake, were held from the son's home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. S. E. Pollock of Antioch, officiating. Interment was in Hillside cemetery, Antioch.

Was 83 Years Old.
Mr. Stickels was born in Columbia county, New York, October 15, 1845, and departed this life December 27, 1928, at the age of 83 years. He was united in marriage to Dinna Parker, July 8, 1868. Mrs. Stickels died about three weeks ago.

During the civil war Mr. Stickels served with the union army, and he one of the few remaining veterans of G. A. R. in Lake county.

Three sons are left: Alfred M., Bangor, Michigan; Elmer J., Grayslake, and Ralph E., California, also 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Antioch Not Hard Hit In Special Assessments

Antioch is not struggling under an oppressive and unreasonable load of taxation for public improvements, a report just issued by County Treasurer J. B. Morse shows. The total special assessments collected for the various cities and villages was $351,426.68, according to the treasurer's report, and the amounts were as follows:

Winthrop Harbor	11,378.59
Zion	20,560.73
Antioch	1,158.35
Newport Drainage	876.89
Round Lake	129.59
Grayslake	3,300.58
Waukegan	451,997.66
North Chicago	28,920.39
Lake Bluff	4,803.15
Lake Forest	17,912.51
Libertyville	49,439.60
Mundelein	19,250.39
Wauconda	2,219.46
Barrington	2,632.97
Lake Zurich	354.74
Deerfield	28,237.55
Highwood	9,487.59
Highland Park	195,373.60
Grab School Drainage	393.85
Union Drainage	2,001.49

So, in the light of the above figures, and so long as this village is rated as progressive, it would seem that Antioch's little matter of $1,158.35 is not hard to take.

TWO GAMES PLAYED SATURDAY NIGHT

Antioch's independent basketball team won from a group of older Antioch High school alumnae Saturday night on the local school floor by a score of 16 to 12.

The local high school aggregation defeated the younger group of alumnae 23 to 14.

When the older alumnae played the town team, Tiffany, Chas. W. West, Keilmann, and Spafford were among the former basketball stars who were seen on the floor. For the independents, the Woodward played an unusually good game, his success at long shots being a feature.

The contest between the younger alumnae and the high school basketballers was not as fast a game as the former, but the playing was consistently better.

The games are played annually and offer a real treat to persons coming home for the holidays.

Flu Mild, Keep Schools Open; Says Health Chief

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 3.—Advancing against closing schools, business houses or theatres because of influenza outbreaks, and announcing that state district health superintendents have been instructed to promptly investigate and report on every serious case of the disease, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, declared today that so far there have developed no reasons for public alarm concerning the epidemic wave of influenza now hovering over the middle west. Practically all of the 2190 cases reported in Illinois during the last ten days, 807 of which were reported Monday, have been mild in character and no change in this respect is anticipated. Virulent outbreaks like the 1918 epidemic come at intervals of twenty to thirty years with occasional secondary or minor waves like the present in between.

"We are now in the midst of a mild influenza epidemic that actually began last spring, was intercepted by the last spring, was intercepted by the summer, and has manifested itself again under the prevailing unseasonable weather conditions," Dr. Rawlings said. "It will probably disappear in epidemic form with the return of cold, dry weather."

Household
HintsJust More Salads--
But What Could Be Better

Somewhat, one never tires of salads—especially if new ones grace the table. Salads are so tempting—crisp, green, fresh, and sparkling.

For example, drain a can of fruits that are put up for salads. Chill in the ice box, outdoors, or in the electric refrigerator. Then cut the fruit into cubes. To the syrup from the can, add one tablespoon of butter, two tablespoons of sugar, mixed with a tablespoon of flour, and then one tablespoon of lard or lemon juice. Bring this to boiling, pour it over one slightly beaten egg, and cook in double boiler until it is thick and coats a spoon. Cool, then fold in one-fourth cup of sour cream, whipped. Arrange the fruit on lettuce, pour over some of the dressing, and garnish with chopped nuts and some of the cherries from the can of fruit.

Or try this pear salad—it's really delicious. Use the same recipe for salad dressing as above, only use the juice from a can of pears instead of from the fruits for salad. Chill the pears, and arrange on leaves of lettuce. Crumble Roquefort cheese coarsely and sprinkle in cavities of the pears.

Or try this dressing over pears: one tablespoon olive oil or cooking oil, one-half tablespoon vinegar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one-sixteenth teaspoon mustard, one-half teaspoon sugar, two tablespoons chili sauce, and two tablespoons mayonnaise. Beat well, pour over the pears and cheese, and garnish with strips of pimento.

"Baby" in "Skyscraper."

Traveling in a special "skyscraper" crate, a baby giraffe recently went from its former home in South Africa to its new abode in England. The crate had to be specially constructed because of the animal's long neck, and exceptional precautions were taken to guard its health in its change from the tropical to the temperate climate, giraffes being delicate and subject to many ailments in northern climates.

Nature's Wise Provision.

Though November is proverbially the gloomiest month in the year, it is conspicuously rich in beef, mutton, veal, pork, and house-lamb, as well as in fish, poultry, game and wild fowl. Thus, by an admirable provision to the economy of nature, at the season when the human appetite is increasing in strength, the means of satisfying it are multiplied.—William Hone.

Did You Ever Try
These Recipes?
Do, Please.

"Just a little bit of everything" in the cooking world often means hash, but in this case, a little bit of everything means recipes of various kinds—all tested by the writer.

DATE MUFFINS

2 cups flour (white or whole wheat)
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 package sliced dates
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup melted shortening
Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add the sliced dates then the slightly beaten egg and milk. Add melted shortening and beat well. Bake in well oiled muffin pans in a hot oven for 20 to 30 minutes. This recipe will make 12 large muffins.

SALTED PEANUTS

2 cups raw peanuts
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 teaspoon salt

Place the shelled raw peanuts in enough boiling water to cover. Let them stand for five minutes. This will loosen the closely adhering skin. Slip this off and place the peanuts in a dripping pan with the oil. Have the nuts evenly distributed over the bottom of the pan. If necessary, use two pans as the layers should not be piled too high. If the pan is small and the nuts are deep, place in a slow oven (275 degrees if you have a thermostat) and roast for 4 1/2 hours. In a moderate oven (about 350 degrees) nuts in a small pan will have to be stirred occasionally. If the nuts are not deep, about 40 to 50 minutes will be required for roasting in a moderate oven. Remove from the oven, sprinkle with salt and place on brown paper to absorb any excess fat.

No Longer King of Road.

Not long since in a Southern court the owner of a horse which, while being driven by its owner, backed into the plaintiff's car. The horse owner asserted he was not liable, because the animal's antics were the "result of an inherent nature!" The court, however, held otherwise, thus showing once again that the horse, more or less surely—as you will—is no longer king of the road.—American Motorist.

Scorch Stains.

"I have New Year's resolutions," Johnny Ape announced to his mother New Year's day.

"That is fine," Mrs. Ape said. "Tell me what they are, so I can tell if you break your resolutions. I will put a chart on the wall, Johnny, and every time that there is an entire day on which you do not break a resolution, I will give you a gold star. If you break one resolution you get only a red star, but if you break more than one you will receive a black mark after your name. What do you think of that plan?"

"Gee, mother, that is great," Johnny said. "Here are some of my resolutions."

Johnny pulled a paper out of his pocket. He had the resolutions written on the paper. Maybe some of you boys and girls don't know what resolutions mean that you have decided you won't do some things and you will do some things—all things you know should not or should be done, but you "have had" a hard time trying to do just what is right. Do you understand?

Well, these are Johnny's resolutions which he read to his mother:

"I am going to practise my piano lesson for one hour every day. I am not going to fight with Danny Gorilla even if he does try to get me to. I am going to wash my hands before each meal and after each meal with out mother telling me. I am going to study my lessons in school each day—study so much that I will not have to bring home any books."

"Well, well, Johnny," Mrs. Ape

said. "Your resolutions are good ones. Every week that you do not break any of these resolutions I shall let you get a chocolate malted milk drink at the Soda-Jerk drug store."

"Whee!" shouted Johnny. "I will get a chocolate malted milk every week! Say, mother, would you mind giving me my malted milk in advance this time?"

"If you want a malted milk," Mrs. Ape said, "I shall let you buy one, not as payment in advance, but because I am so happy that you have made such fine resolutions."

"Whee!" Johnny said, as he took the money his mother offered.

Well, sir, everyone Johnny met on the way he told of his resolutions, the stars he was going to get, and of the chocolate malted milk he would have every week. And every one of his friends decided to have resolutions, too. And so all of the Squirrel children, all of the Rabbit children, all of the Chipmunk children, and all of the other children of Animal Land wrote resolutions, and all of the mothers promised chocolate malted milk, chocolate sodas, or chocolate sundaes. And everyone of the children asked for a treat in advance. And everyone got it! The Soda-Jerk drug store did the biggest business at the soda fountain that had been done in years and Mr. Poppy-woppy Wenslo, owner of the store, says he hopes all of the boys and girls keep their resolutions, for:

"It puts coin in my pocket," he stated. And Mr. Poppy-woppy Wenslo certainly does like money!

Once a novelty, "chemical snow" is now manufactured by the ten instead of by the ounce. It is increasingly used for refrigeration, for under certain conditions this substance is said to be 15 times as efficient as water ice. Tractor Short Courses
Open Soon At U. of I.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 3.—Sixty-six of the farmers who own the 70,000 tractors now estimated to be in use on Illinois farms will have a chance to brush up on the care and operation of these machines in two tractor and gas engine short courses which the farm mechanics department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois is holding, during the latter part of this month. The first of the two courses, which will be held, is scheduled for the week of January 21 to 26, immediately following the annual Farm and Home Week at the college, and the second the week of January 28 to February 2.

Facilities for giving the work offered in the courses make it necessary to limit the enrollment and consequently the first 66 tractor and gas engine owners and operators to apply will be the ones who will get the training. It was announced by R. I. Shaw, acting head of the farm mechanics department.

Ten popular makes of tractors, 12 gas engines mounted on frames, 35 farm gas engines and a representative assortment of magnets, carburetors, air cleaners and engine parts will be at the disposal of the short course students in the laboratory work which will occupy four to five hours a day. Engine construction, tractor construction, engine timing, make and break ignition, high tension ignition, carburetor study and adjustment, tractor and gas engine trouble work and tractor operation will be covered in this part of the course.

To round out a full eight-hour day for those taking the course there will be three hours of lecture work daily in which the operation, principles of construction of engines, valves and valve timing, ignition, fuels and carburetors lubrication and engine troubles will be explained. Moving pictures will be used to show many of the interesting phases of power farming not covered during the lecture or laboratory periods.

A small fee to cover the cost of materials used is charged for enrollment in the courses.

LAKE COUNTY HAS 117,000 POPULATION, 1928 REPORT SHOWS

Large Increase Last Year,
According to Commerce
Body.

Lake county will have a population of 117,000 on January 1, 1929, according to a study made by the Chicago Association of Commerce which was announced Thursday.

If the figure of the Association of Commerce is correct, this county will have seen an unusually large increase during the year 1928. Conservative observers, who have taken into account the census of 1920 and the estimated populations of the larger cities in the county, believe that the association figure is somewhat exaggerated. They put the population at between 90,000 and 100,000.

In announcing the population of Lake county, the Commerce body credited lake shore cities with the following populations, which are considered as being quite accurate:

Waukegan	31,500
Highland Park	15,000
North Chicago	9,400
Lake Forest	5,750

Lake county's rapid growth is the result of the expanding metropolitan area of Chicago. Having spread northwards past the Cook-Lake county line, the tide of population is gradually creeping into Highland Park, North Chicago and Waukegan, the chief residential and industrial centers between Evanston and Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Attracts Industries
Besides attracting industries, this county has become the playground of the state. Its numerous resorts, golf courses and other vacation spots draw thousands of people each summer.

Waukegan, with its population of 31,500, has taken a big jump from the statistics given out after the 1920 census. As the population of the city then was given out at slightly over 19,000, the increase in nine years is about 65 per cent.

Metropolitan Chicago will have a population of more than 4,500,000 by January 1. This territory is described as the region within 35 miles of the loop, including all of Cook county and the surrounding counties of DuPage, Kane, Lake and Will in Illinois, and Lake in Indiana.

Chicago Population
The figure for the city of Chicago alone is over three million—3,215,000 to be exact. This is an increase of about 78,000 over that of January 1923. During the past five years the Windy City has shown an increase of about 70,000 each year.

The population of Cook county, which includes 95 villages and towns as well as Chicago, is given as 3,825,000.

The populations of the neighboring counties in the metropolitan area, as determined by the association, are: DuPage, 87,000; Kane, 123,700; Lake, (Ill.), 117,000; Will, 102,500; Lake, (Ind.), 270,000.

In the past eight years Berwyn has led Cook county cities, having grown from 14,130 in 1920 to 47,000 in 1928. Oak Park and Evanston are next, while Gary, Indiana, has grown to 107,000.

In DuPage county the following estimates are made for the larger towns: Elmhurst, 14,000; Downers Grove, 10,800; Wheaton, 8,500; Illinois Dale, 7,700; Glen Ellyn, 7,700.

Aurora Has 500 Gain

Aurora in Kane county is credited with an increase of 600 this year bringing its total to 47,200, while Elgin has 25,000; St. Charles, 5,300; Batavia, 5,150; and Geneva, 4,350.

About 60 per cent of Will county population is in the city and suburbs of Joliet, the city having an urban population of 42,500 and with rural residents included 59,450.

Mammoth and Man.

The first direct association of man and mammoth has been discovered in South Africa, where Stone Age implements have been discovered in the same spot with teeth of the huge extinct beasts. The mammoths lived during the Ice Age.

Steam in the Cylinder.

Repression, some one has said, is a cardinal method of expression; it is the steam in the cylinder that turns the wheels, not that which is blown from the whistle. —American Magazine.

Early Use of Skates.

Skating is undoubtedly of great antiquity, as shown by early carvings. The early development of this "sport" was due principally to the Norsemen, Swedes, Danes, Finns and Dutch.

Has Ever Recorded.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.—Franz Romer, German sportsman, was entertained in St. Thomas recently after having made one of the most amazing trips across the Atlantic which history has recorded.

Romer, unknown to the people of St. Thomas, arrived from Las Palmas, in the Canary Islands. He had been out 68 days in his little, one-half-ton yacht, named the Deutsche Sport, of which he is the captain, cook, crew, and sole passenger.

Leaving Las Palmas, Romer had planned to sail his tiny craft direct to New York. But he encountered a succession of storms, which lasted five days at a time, with only a few hours of calm between. For five days he did not move, eat, drink or sleep. The seas were boiling around him and the wind howled.

The cushions, the cover of his bread box, and even his hat were carried away.

Suffers From Heat.

For the next 35 days Romer sat in his water-soaked cockpit. At the end of that time he was so sore from the salt water that he could sit up no longer, so for the next 15 days he stood up, gaining his sleep in catnaps propped against the rail.

For ten days he was becalmed. "The heat nearly drove me crazy," he said, "and I feared sunstroke, but at last heavy rains gave relief."

"While becalmed, four sharks attacked my boat. One attempted to ram it, but the boat was of such light draft that the shark glided under it, raising the yacht in the water and shaking it all over."

Fights Shark With Flag.

"As a last resort I took the flag staff on which I happened to have an American flag and struck the shark with the flag unfurled. The shark was frightened by the bright colors and swam hastily away."

Continued unfavorable weather—first storms and gales and then heat and calm—forced Romer to put in at St. Thomas.

He said he would remain about a month, resting, and then would proceed to New York.

During the trip he subsisted upon canned fruits and one litre of water a day, having nothing else along in the way of provisions.

Bandits Find Bessie

Their Crime Nemesis

New Orleans.—Warning to bandits! If you have carried on your profession successfully and thus far evaded arrest, guard yourself against falling in love with Bessie Moran, twenty-two-year-old "queen of bandits," now in a New Orleans jail, as a fugitive from Mississippi where she is wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile.

Bessie is admittedly the nemesis of gangland.

Three of Bessie's sweethearts are now doing various sentences in penitentiaries and she is looking for other "victims."

"Just playthings, poor dumb things. They are made to dynamite. One's as good as another, and they are all alike," she said. "It's the married men that fall easiest."

Bessie had just been taken to see her latest admirer, Charles Whitney, confessed holdup man, who probably will be sent to the penitentiary within a short time. Bessie's husband, Frank Jackson, convicted of embezzlement, had left for the state penitentiary only a few hours prior to her call on Whitney. She married Jackson in Cleveland, Ohio, she said. "The couple were arrested in Montreal, Canada, and returned here."

Ernest Brighton, said to have been one of Bessie's early admirers, is already doing a three to five year term in the Louisiana penitentiary for robberies committed in 1923.

"It's dangerous to be a playmate," said Bessie who, with the exception of the Mississippi charge, has always managed to absolve herself of any connection with the crimes of her lovers.

Players Will Appear Here Monday

TOOLEY OPERA COMPANY

The musical play, "The Beggar King," is to be presented at the Antioch High school Monday night, January 7. The play is written around the famous Francois Villon of French history. Villon was quite a picturesque character and his story has been told and retold many times.

Twenty-five years ago E. H. Southern first made Villon famous in the play called "If I Were King." Next came a musical version of the same play presented by Russell Janney, called "The Vagabond King." About the same time John Barrymore introduced the picturesque character to the screen in the motion picture, "The Beloved Rogue."

Howard Tooley now brings forth a new production built around the beloved poet. The play is one of the most thrilling ever produced on the concert stage and has drawn much praise from the press in the elaborate manner in which it has been produced, with its realistic scenery and colorful costumes.

The story is one that abounds in thrilling duels and dark intrigues. Francois Villon, the vagabond, madcap poet of old France boasts of what he would do if he were King of France. "The King as a jest makes his first Counselor to himself for a week. What happens to Villon, how he carries himself, and in the end almost loses his own life makes an interesting story within itself. But when you take into consideration that with this tale is presented a love story of rare charm and beauty one can readily see that it is a play of exceptional worth. Interpolated throughout the play will be stirring march music and tender love songs.

Floyd L. Dorsey will be featured in the play in the character of King Louis, the XI. Playing opposite him will be Mrs. Emma Dorsey as Katherine, the lady of the court. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey have just finished a two years' tour in the comic opera "Chimes of Normandy" and folks are welcoming them everywhere with great enthusiasm in their new roles. Jimmy Edwards will take care of the comedy honors of the play, playing Jacques, the barber to the King. Mr. Edwards has just finished a tour of the large musical centers on the western coast in the Gilbert-Sullivan opera "H. M. S. Pinafore." He was received everywhere with great favor and the audience is assured that there will be plenty of fun for everyone. The name part of "The Beggar King" will be played by Howard Tooley, who is well known in the concert and operatic world. For the supporting cast Mr. Tooley, the producer, has executed great judgment in his singers and players and the performance will be rounded in every respect.

OBITUARY

There is no desire on my part to preach a sermon this afternoon," said the Rev. A. M. Krahl at the funeral services for Mrs. Emma Bartlett. "The action of a life time are bound up in the personality of Mrs. Bartlett whom God sent on March 27, 1848, to dwell among men and on December 28, called her home, aged 80 years, 10 months. Though born in Potsdam, N. Y., she spent the larger part of her life in Antioch. Sixteen years ago her good husband passed through the eternal gates, preceded by an infant son. Since the passing of her husband Mrs. Bartlett made her home with her only daughter, Mrs. William Ziegler, in whose company she found great joy.

"Her face beaming the warm welcome of a Christian will be missed in the Fortness, Nebekah and Royal Neighbors and especially in the church where she was always wanted to go and methinks was most happy singing the praises of God. She is now transformed in Glory and privileged to be with God already met by those who have gone on before."

Christ the Comforter

Beside the dead I knelt for prayer.

And felt a presence as I prayed,

Lo, it was Jesus standing there.

He smiled: "Be not afraid!"

"Lord, Thou has conquered death we know,

Restore again to life," I said,

"This one who died an hour ago."

He smiled: "She is not dead!"

"Asleep then, as Thyself didst say?"

Yet Thou canst lift the eyes that keep

Her prisoned eyes from ours away!"

He smiled: "She doth not sleep!"

"Oh then, she happily she does wake,

And look upon some fairer dawn,

Restore her to our hearts that ache!"

He smiled: "She is not gone!"

"Alas! too well we know our loss,

Nor hope again our joy to touch,

Until the stream of death we cross!"

He smiled: "There is no such!"

"Yet our beloved seem so far,

The while we yearn to feel them near,

Albeit with Thee we trust they are."

He smiled: "And I am here!"

"Dear Lord, how shall we know that they

Still walk unseen with us and Thee,

Nor sleep, nor wander far away?"

He smiled: "Abide in Me!"

(Reassiter W. Raymond.)

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING

No better proof of the essential soundness of the American economic system could be found than the amenability today existing between labor and capital.

At the present time many of the great foreign powers are in the throes of unrest. The Russian Soviet experiment has yet to be worked out satisfactorily and has been chiefly distinguished by conflicts between different Communist factions. England, Austria, Germany and France have labor problems. Government ownership of basic industries has not met the demands of workers, and has damaged national prosperity.

In comparison, the United States stands out, with unparalleled prosperity and industrial satisfaction. Except for coal, major American industries have been free from strikes for years and even minor disputes between employees and employers have been rare.

With growth in wages in our country, millions of workers are purchasing stock in industries which furnish them employment. They will be the capitalists of tomorrow.

Capital has made our prosperity and labor benefited. And the imported panaceas are found, when brought to America, to be sadly lacking in the qualities that would entice them to our individualistic and independent-thinking citizens.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE SCHEME FAILS

In a recent article on results of the Massachusetts experiment in compulsory automobile liability insurance, Assistant Manager Goodwin of the Eastern Department, Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, said:

"The compulsory automobile liability securities act was adopted by Massachusetts against the advice of the best minds in and out of the insurance business."

"The recent and continuing disclosures in connection with the experience of the public and the insurance companies demonstrate beyond question that it is difficult to perceive any evidence of the benefits which were so vociferously proclaimed by its proponents at the time it was adopted."

"The number of accidents, fatal and non-fatal, has not been reduced. The so-called irresponsible operators are still legion. The expense of enactment and administration has been exceedingly heavy and must ultimately be passed on to the citizenry."

"To say that the insurance companies have benefited in any way from this legislation is refuted by their experience which, when filed with the Commissioner of Insurance as required by law, indicates conclusively the need for material increase in premium levels all along the line."

"Surely it is wise counsel to other states to proceed cautiously in any program touching similar legislation and to be warned by the experience of the first and only state which has adopted compulsory automobile insurance."

FIRE INSURANCE AND PUBLIC SERVICE

Fire insurance is world-wide in its range and scope and serves a vital need, adequately and economically. It justly holds a high position in the world of finance and business and in the estimation of those intimately connected with its operations.

From its earliest beginnings, fire insurance has exemplified the spirit of public service and filled an urgent community need.

With the development of fire insurance as a business, the scope of these public benefit activities has expanded and in this twentieth century stock fire insurance fights the battle against fire, scientifically and effectively, on behalf of all communities.

Stock fire insurance is a business conducted for the purpose of earning a reasonable profit on monies put to the hazard of loss and on the ability and energy devoted by those who have made it their career.

It safeguards credit, which is the foundation of modern business, while credit, in turn, supports the mighty structure of present-day industry. It watches over the investment of the individual in his home and thereby gives the security which enables him to devote his energies to fruitful labor elsewhere.

Fire insurance provides a service which is vital to every individual and every industry. It might be truthfully said that the greatest value of fire insurance is not alone the indemnity it pays when necessity requires but the feeling of security it gives a policyholder and the work fire insurance companies do to prevent fire loss which causes death and destruction which no money can pay for.

AMERICAN ROADS WIN RECOGNITION

In discussing foreign road building, Frank H. Curran, Chief of Highways Section of Automotive Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, says that the world is turning to the United States for highway information and material.

During the last four years, says Mr. Curran, "we have made an excellent collection of data on highways and highway transportation abroad and of new opportunities for American trade resulting from road improvements."

Argentina, South Africa and Australia buy American road making machinery. Persia, the Soviet and Panama employ American engineers to direct the development of their national highway system. India plans to coordinate the work of road improvements under a central board. Road construction in Java increases the demand for American asphalt. Australia adopts a new federal aid system based on ours. A Swedish engineer invents a new asphalt paving process.

"We have been carrying on a world-wide campaign to arouse interest in foreign countries in road improvement, especially by the use of American methods, materials and machinery."

DUPLICATION MEANS WASTE

The law requiring a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity before a public service corporation may incur expense for extension of its lines is presumed to be a public safeguard and in the public interest.

Previously any railroad might extend its lines into territory already amply served by another with result both roads suffered from insufficient traffic and it became necessary to reduce quantity and quality of service or obtain increase of rates.

Now, before a railroad may duplicate service by building into territory already amply served, it must obtain authority from the Interstate Commerce Commission or a State Commission and must show by proper evidence that the traffic will support another railroad, that the territory into which it proposes to build is not properly served, and that the new line is a public necessity.

In the old days roads duplicated service and built into each other's territory, with the result that traffic insufficient to support one road was split up among two or three, with resulting loss to the traveling and shipping public and investor.

We should profit by mistakes of the past. A railroad obtains its support from revenue derived from hauling traffic, and where the traffic is split up would not be sufficient to support another road without impairment of service or increase of rates. It is in the public interest that authority to build be denied. It is a mistaken idea that merely "another" railroad means better service.

The wise course for the public to pursue is charted by law, and that is, prevent duplication of service where a community is already properly served. Nothing better assures good service at reasonable rates, as in most instances duplication means in the long run poorer service or higher rates, or both, coupled with almost certain loss to investors.

Several passengers were injured and Roy found himself thrown into a ditch with several people on top of him. He escaped with an injury to his back which is still being treated in a nearby hospital and is threatened with pneumonia.

Balanced Dairy Rations Need No "Sugar-Coating"

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 3.—Good plain farm feeds for the dairy cow need no sugar coating in the form of extra mineral supplements if the rations fed the cows contain liberal amounts of well-cured legume hay and a grain mixture of protein feeds high in phosphorus, judging from the results of experiments just reported in the latest bulletin from the experiment station of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. It is entitled, "An Experiment in the Free-Choice Feeding of Mineral Supplements to Dairy Cattle."

Widespread interest in the needs of dairy cattle for minerals has been aroused through investigations which have shown that the production of large amounts of milk may cause dairy cows to lose mineral elements from their bodies. Aside from sodium and chlorine, which are supplied in common salt, the mineral element most likely to be deficient in rations for milk production is calcium, with phosphorus sometimes also lacking.

In the experiments by Dr. W. B. Nevins, assistant chief in dairy cattle feeding at the experiment station, it was shown that there is not likely to be a deficiency of either of these two minerals in rations containing liberal amounts of well-cured legume hay, which is high in lime content and therefore supplies calcium, and a well-balanced grain mixture containing protein supplements high in phosphorus.

It was the object of the experiments to see whether cattle kept under ordinary herd conditions in barn and dry lot would voluntarily supplement their rations with minerals if given an opportunity. The ration fed consisted of corn silage, a legume hay either of alfalfa, soybeans or red clover, and a grain mixture composed of ground shelled corn, ground oats, wheat bran and a second protein supplement. This second protein supplement was either corn gluten feed, soybean oil meal or linseed oil meal.

No particular craving or desire for mineral supplements other than common salt was shown by the cattle used in the test. It was found, however, that feeding calcium salt at the rate of 1 per cent of the grain mixture was not enough to satisfy the desires of the cattle for this compound. Quite large amounts were consumed when additional salt was supplied in feed boxes in the exercising yards.

Root of Jealousy.

The jealous man is not angry if you dislike another, but if you find those faults which are to his own character, you discover not only your dislike of another, but of himself.—Addison.

Snails in Hibernation.

Snails dig themselves into the ground in winter and remain torpid, cementing the opening to their shells. They breathe through a small hole in the "cement," too small to allow the entrance of water, but large enough to let air in.

Danger in Eloquence.

"Eloquence," said Mr. Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is a gift of the gods, to be used with discretion. It causes an error of statement to be remembered beyond the power even of eloquence to correct it."—Washington Star.

The First Lottery.

The earliest known lottery was drawn at Bruges on February 21, 1446. The late state lottery in England was drawn on October 18, 1820, at Coopers hall, London, in Basinghall street.

Dull Steel.

A steel chain or buckles that have become dull and rusty-looking should be put in a box almost full of fine emery dust. Close the box and shake vigorously for several minutes. Brush off the dust when it has done its work.

Smart Lady.

An Antioch woman always has spending money. Twice a week she threatens to go back to her mother, and her husband always gives her enough money for train fare.—Antioch Globe.

Pedestrian Liveliness.

The automobile industry, we read, is growing by leaps and bounds, and if you want to know whose leaps and bounds, just stand on a street corner and take a good look.—New York Evening Post.

Adam.

Men can understand how Eve got by without clothes, but how Adam got along without pockets is a mystery.—Antioch Globe.

Lucky Individual.

The lucky ones seem to be always as if they just came into the world. There is still in them something of Adam upon the first day; they reconnoiter, with shining eyes, the layout of the garden, and stare in admiration at such novel curiosities as the moon and stars.—C. E. Mon tague.

Fond of Animals.

Erna, the janitor, found occasion to make himself quite busy in the office during a business session of the stockholders of the firm. After their departure he said to the manager of the "business": "Boss, you mind showing me that white elephant I heard you all say you got?"

J. B. Rotnour Players
Coming to Crystal

Arrangements have been made for the appearance of the J. B. Rotnour Players at the Crystal, for a Circuit Stock engagement. Their first appearance will be next Tuesday night, January 8, and every Tuesday night thereafter. Mr. Rotnour is well known in Antioch, and he assures the best in high class theatricals and polito vanderbilt. He brings to the Crystal, the same cast of players, that have been associated for one year. There are nine players in the cast including some of the best known talent in the popular field.

The Awakening of John Slator, will be the play for Tuesday night, and "J. B." says it is to laugh. Between acts there will be vaudeville introduced by Tom Brown, William Coranah, Floyd Countryman and Miss Mildred Axtell. All necessary stage settings are carried for each play and the people of Antioch, and vicinity may look forward to all that is good in clean cut amusement. Set aside Tuesday night, each week for the entire family as you are assured of being properly entertained by a recognized cast of popular players, who have been especially engaged to entertain. Come early and bring the whole family and come prepared to laugh. Doors open 7:30 and the play starting promptly at 8:15.

Bodily Heat Formation.

Heat is a form of molecular energy. According to the modern kinetic theory of heat, the molecules of all bodies are in a state of rapid vibration and any increase of the rapidity of this motion, from whatever cause, increases the heat of the body, while the heat is decreased if this velocity is diminished.

Stung Again.

Lady of the House (to new garden er)—"William, I want you to clean the beehives and when the bees sting you let me know immediately, as I want to try some new antistings I have mixed." Passing Show.

Don't Ask Us.

Another of life's many unsolved mysteries is why a moth always chooses to dine at the most conspicuous place in an article of apparel.—Louisville Times.
